Service Integration and Management

Opportunity

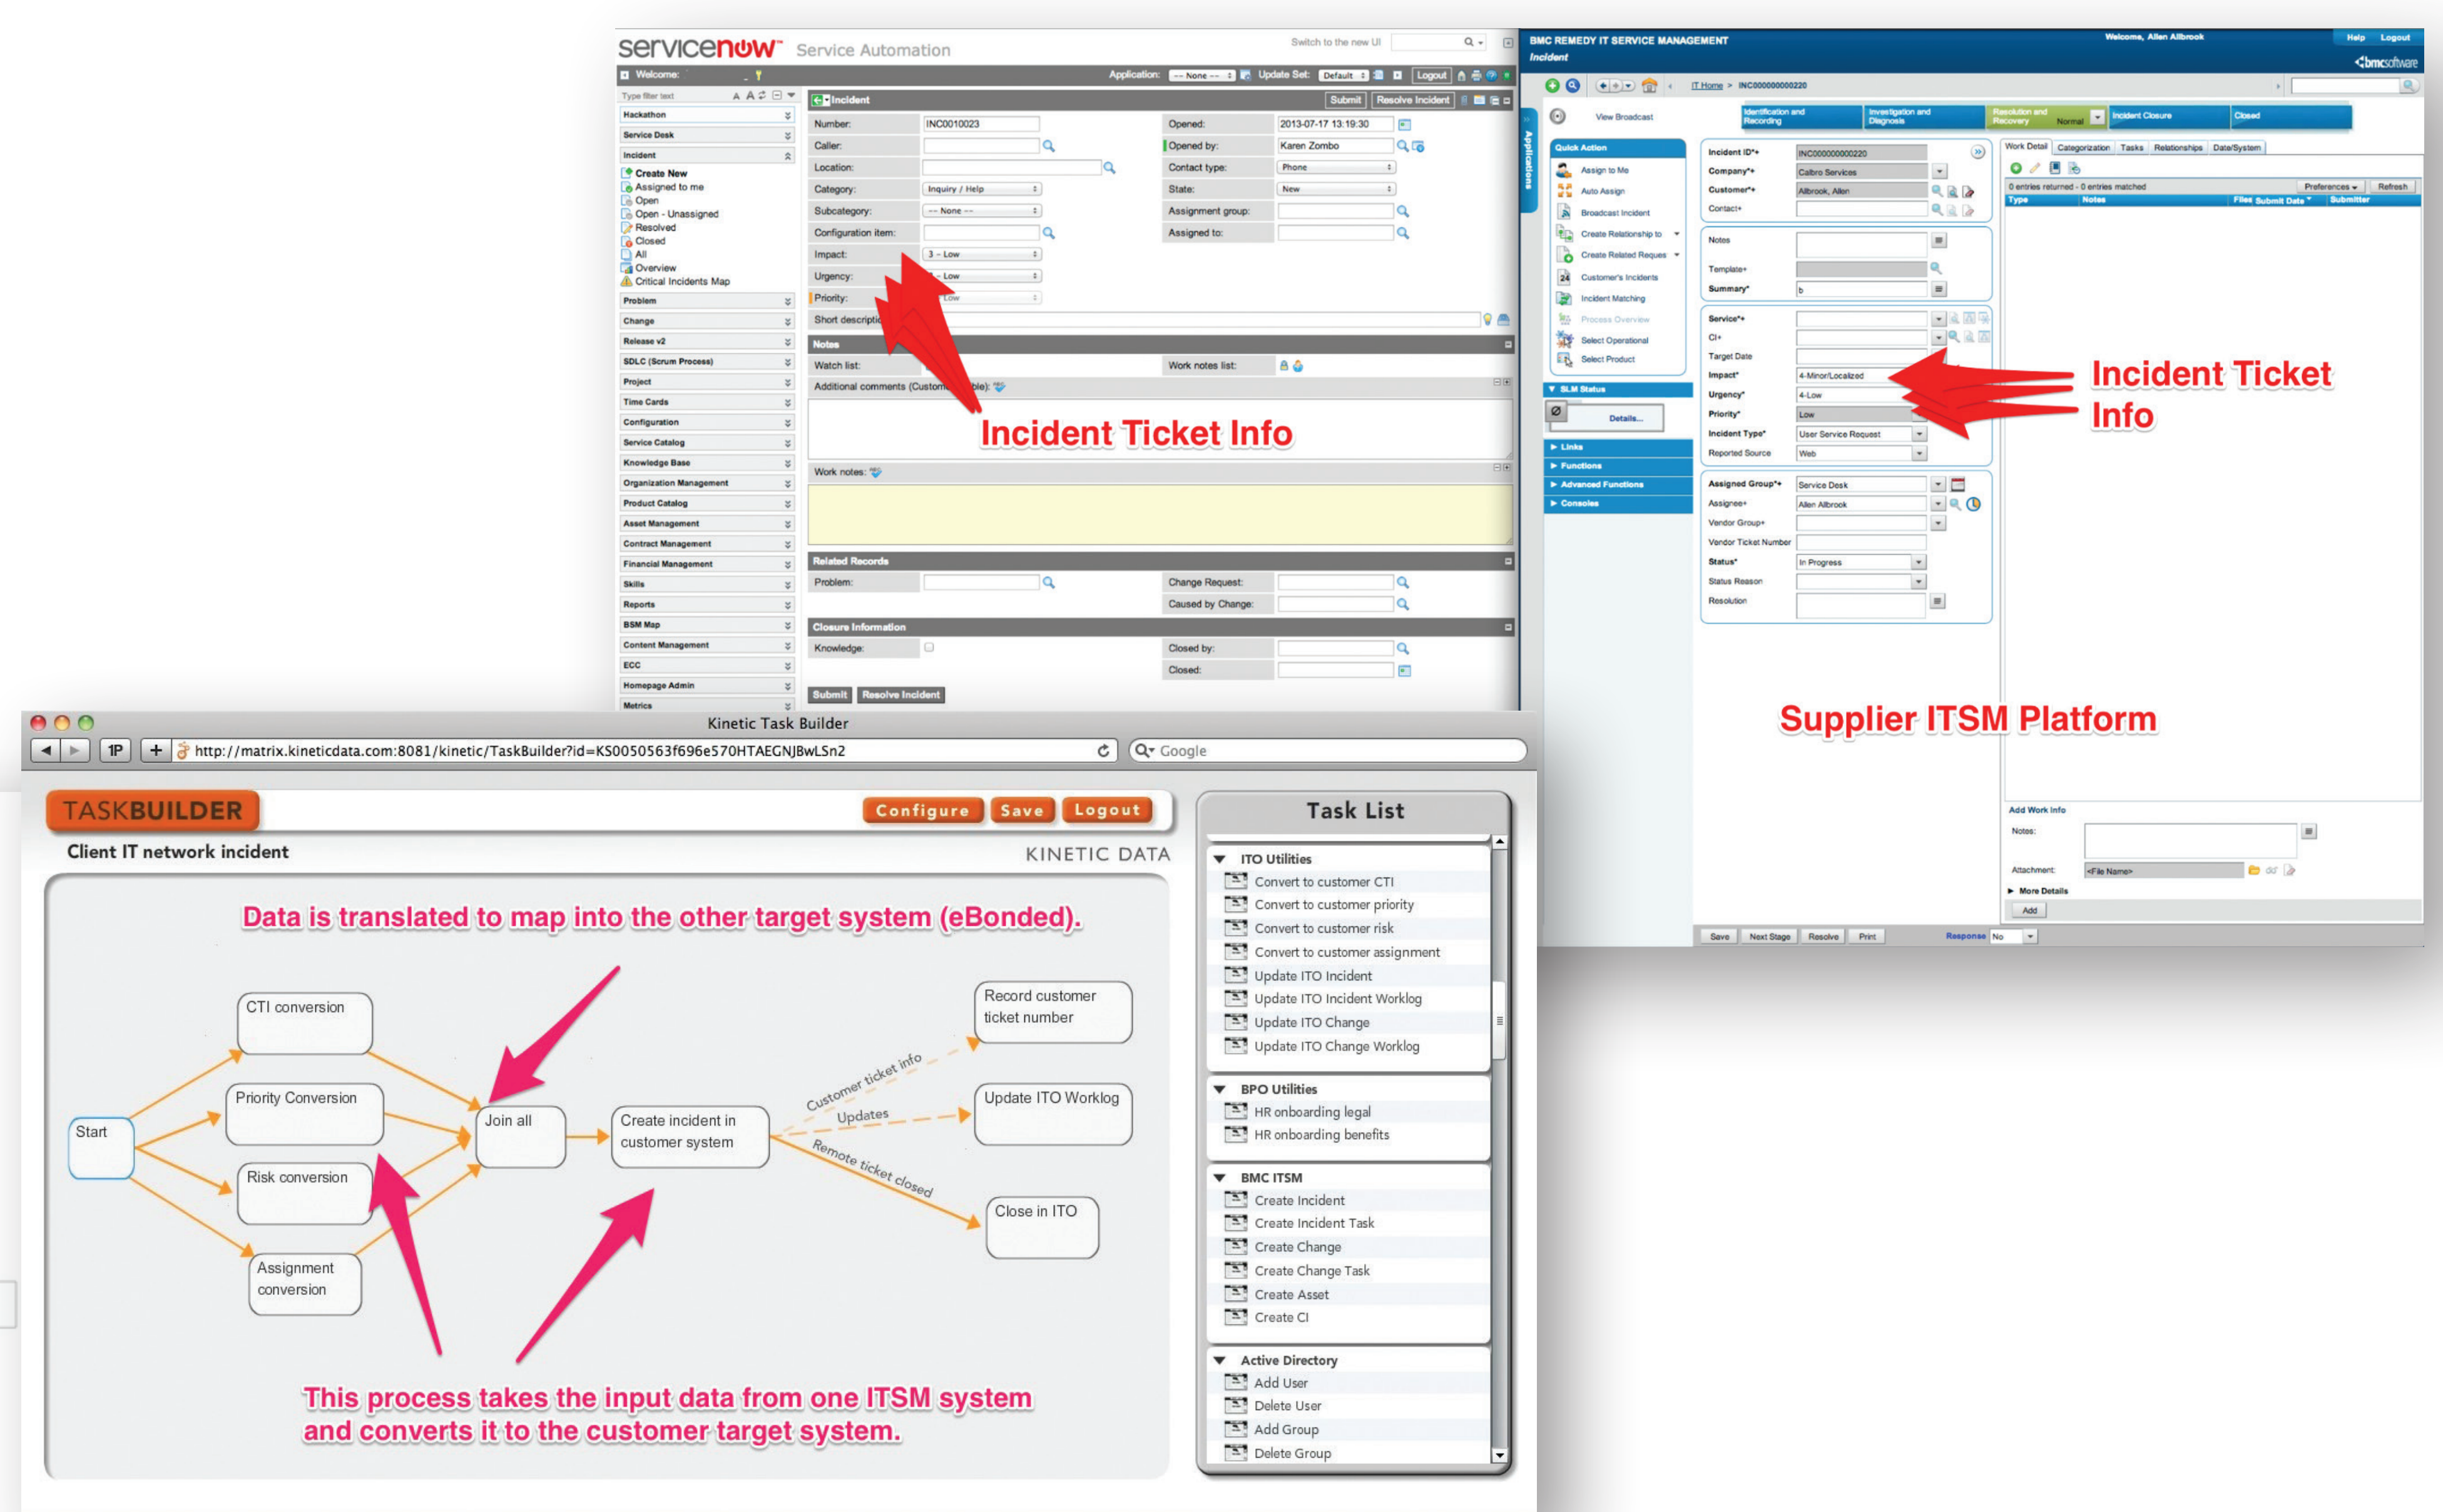

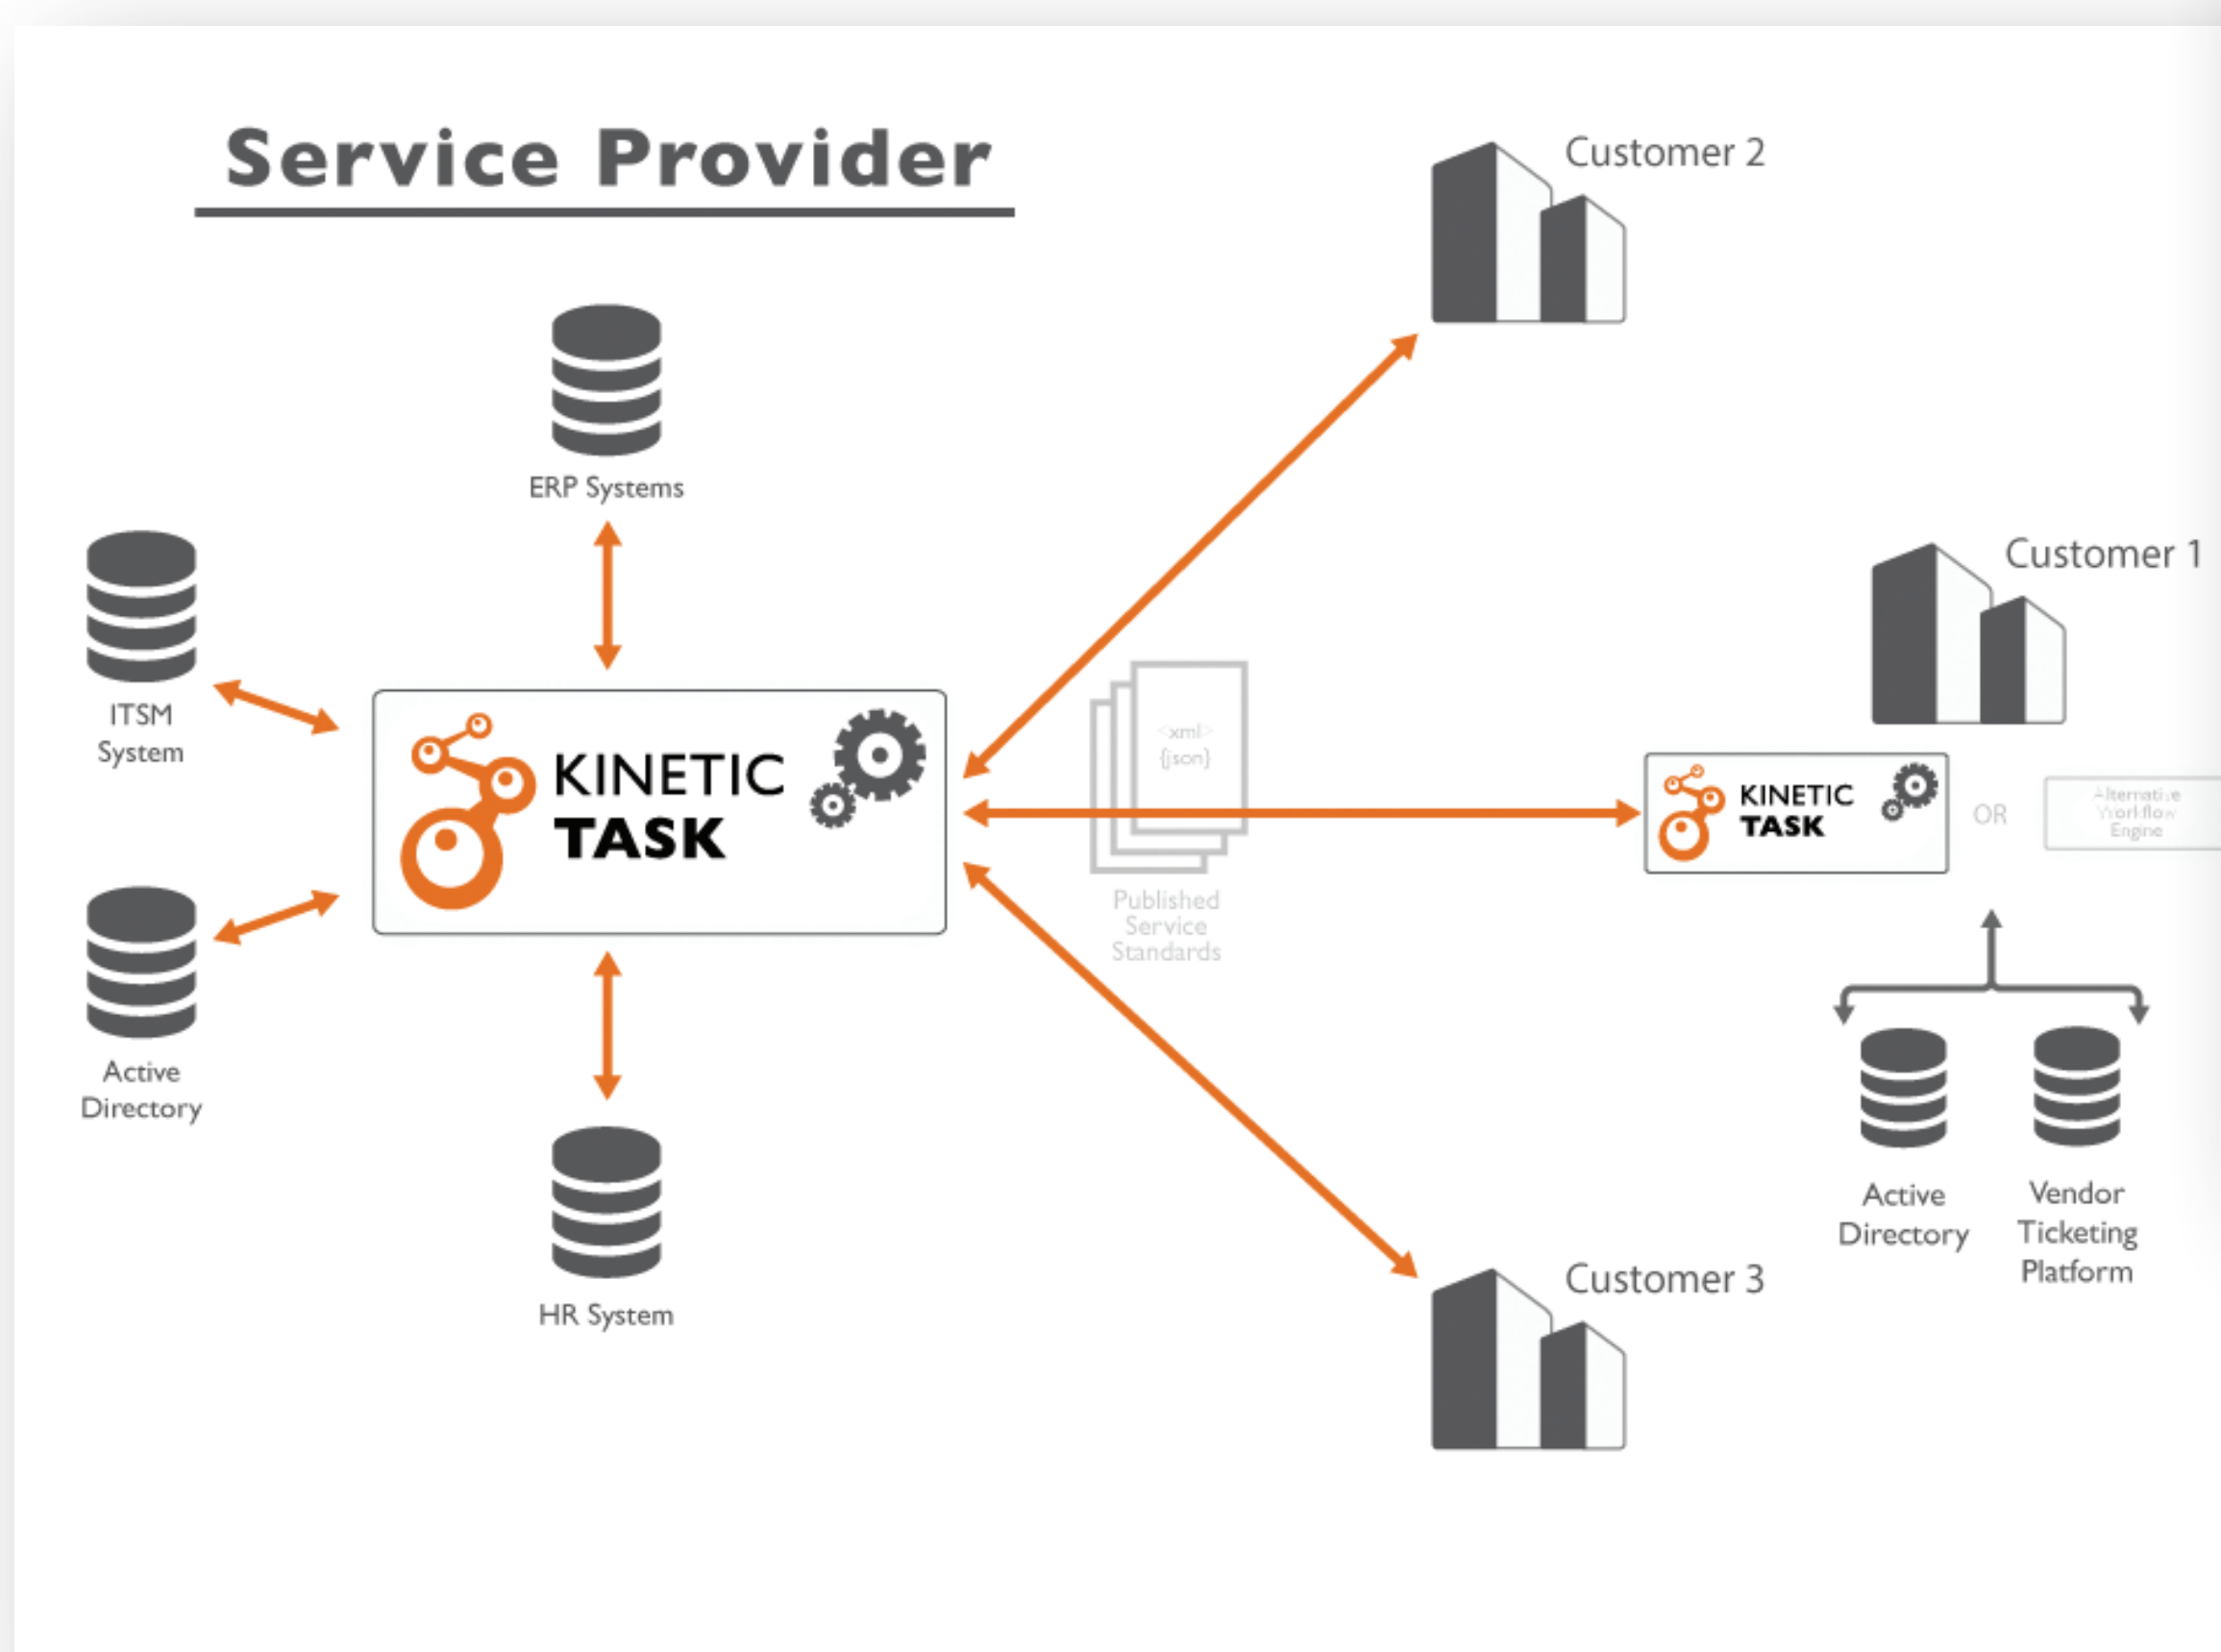

More and more, integrations are needed to successfully run today's businesses. And with this increase comes an opportunity for service providers to manage integrations for a number of companies. Profit exists through reuse, simplification and streamlined maintenance.

Action

Use Kinetic Task to create "Hub and Spoke" integration approach. With built-in handlers to all kinds of systems, these robust integrations can be built quickly and effectively.

Result

Kinetic Task allows a small team of operations support personnel to manage thousands of integrations – greatly reducing cost, increasing flexibility, and creating competitive advantage for service providers.
